BRITISH PUSHING ON

Difficulties of Transportation in Mountainous

Country Are Great.

Drives Them Back Into the Hills After Desperate Resistance.

BRITISH FORCE CAPTURES MUCH PLUNDER

Native Troops Show Great Courage in Recent Battles - Risk Their Lives to Carry Ammunition to the Front.

BOMBAY, Sept. 19.—Advices from the front show that the various columns are advancing against the Mahmunds from Panjkora and Shabkadur. As yet they have met with no serious opposition, but difficulties of transportation in a mountainous and almost pathless country are immense. The most formidable obstacle in the way of rapid movement is the lack of water.

The brigade of General Jeffreys has not foined in the advance. Yesterday it left Camp Anayet with sixteen companies of infantry and four guns, in order to reattack the enemy at the village of Damotagoa. The enemy made a desperate resistance, but were driven out into the hills. The British demolished their towers and captured 400 mule loads of supplies. As soon as the troops began to retire from the village the enemy reappeared in force. The retirement, however, was effected with great precision, the native troops behaving splendidly. Two Sikhs were killed and six wounded. It is now known that the enemy's loss during the fight on Thursday last between the Mahmunds and the Second brigade of Gen-eral Sir Bindon Blood in the valley north of Anayet was very heavy. The tribes engaged did not press the brigade during the retire ment, but fresh tribesmen appeared. Cap-tain Rider's company virtually owed their lives to a guide, an Afridi sergeant, who, when the Sikhs had exhausted their ammunition and were desperately cutting their way back through the enemy, dashed up the hill under heavy fire with a supply of cartridges. He arrived just in time.

Licutenant Watson was thrice wounded while leading a handful of Buffs, who routed a large body of the enemy that was trying to storm the village at which General Jeffreys with his guns had taken up a position after missing his main body in the gloom Thurs-day night. It appears that the enemy lost cooks whom they captured while out hunting

The statement of the American press that the State department at Washington and the British ambassador have received instructions to open negotiations for a general treaty of arbitration is at least premature It is not improbable that the negotiations, which have never been broken off may be resumed next month, when Sir Julian Pauncefote returns to his post, but it is difficult to see how a treaty of any practi cal value can be concluded so long as the senate maintains the attitude it displayed when it last discussed the question. time for the conference of the special Bering sea commission at the end of October or the beginning of November. Commenting on the communication from the foreign office to the colonial office of Mr. Sherman's letter the Standard says: "The correspondence shows that the British government has a perfect answer to the complaints of the government at Washing-ton and the careful reader can easily discover in Mr. Chamberlain's exposition the basis of a serious indictment against the United States, not on account of its highhanded treatment of British seals but on account of its obvious desire to compass the destruction of a British industry and overturn the Paris award. The Daily News, dealing with the blue book, says: "We receive the gift of the blue book with some misgiving and the suspicion that its contents are highly provocative. Mr. Chamberlain, in his reply to Mr. Sherman's dispatch, had no been restraited by any of those concern of diplomatic courtesy which Mr. Sherman has been censured for neglecting. Why has the present moment been chosen for the rankling imputations of bad faith? The pres ent exhibition of indignation is either too tate or too soon, or there is some contemplated hitch in the negotiations requiring a revival of the heated controversy, just when we all thought the combatants were cooling down. There is so other sign of a hitch and we do not believe there is a hitch, Either the dispatches of Mr. Chamber lain have been allowed to come out inadvetently, simply because the printer was ready in either case a blunder was commi almost as serious as the publication of Mr Sherman's dispatch in July-or there has been a foolish desire to gratify persona vanity or to show the Canadians they had a valuant defender, in which case the blunder has nearly attained the proportions of crime, for it would be a crime to imperifriendly negotiation at a moment when a settlement was most in view."

SEARCH FOR A GIANT'S MURDERER. Naked Body Found in Thames Identified as Moritz von Veltheim's.

LONDON, Sept. 19 .- (New York World lablegram - Special Telegram.) - Scotland Yard is now actively engaged in endeavoring to trace the murderer or murderers of Mor-Itz Wilhelm von Veltheim, a naturalized American citizen who was from 1893 to 1896 American consul at Santa Marta, Colombia. GENERAL JEFFREYS REATTACKS ENEMY On August 5 the naked body of a gigantic man, six feet four inches in height, was found floating in the Thames in the vicinity of the docks. A strong lanyard rope was wound tightly round the neck and down the back, tying the hands, and was then securely fistened to the ankles. The body was declared to have been in the water a month and the doctors affirmed that death was caused by strangulation before the immersion. The police seem to have made no inquiries, and, content with the verdict of the coroner's jury, consigned the remains to a puper's grave in Calford cemetery unidentified. A couple of weeks back Madame von Veltheim applied to the home secretary for an order for the exhumation of the body, as she believed it to be that of her hus-band, whom she had lost sight of early in the year, shortly after which time he had bigamously married a young Greek woman Magrovordate, whom he met at a Bloomsbury boarding house. The body was exhumed Friday night, when Madame Veltheim instantly identified it as her husband.

Von Veitheim had a remarkable career. Born in North Germany he began life in the German navy, then fought as a volunteer for Bulgaria against Servia. Subsequently he tramped across the Australian continent. He married his first wife, Miss Yearsley, at Perth, Western Australia, in 1886. He after-wards settled in the United States, then went into the banana trade at Santa Marta, where he was appointed United States conwhere he was appointed United States con-sul. His second wife, discovering he had another wife living had begun proceedings for nullity of her marriage, but they were postponed, as it was stated that Von Velt-heim was in Madigascar, A decree of nullity was, however, granted in July. How he came in the river is a complete mystery, but it is surmised he was thrown overloard from it is surmised he was thrown overboard from Execution. CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 19 .- Captain Cota of the Twelfth infactry was some time since condemned to death for insubordination for the killing of a major of his regiment in Sonora during the Yaqui rebellion. He was shot here yesterday. Detachments from all the garrisons were present, about 1,500 men being drave up on three sides of the square. By 5:45 c'clock all was ready and a carriage, containing Capta'n Cota and three friends, guarded by soldiers, drew tap. At the further end of the square, opposite the castern mound, in front of which the execution was to take place, the coach stopped and the condemned man alighted. He was mmediately conducted to the place of exe ution by a picket of infantry.

His nerve was indomitable and his courige superb. As he advanced down the length of the square, a distance of at least 100 vards, he was quietly puffing at a cigaratte and walked deliberately to the position as sly ed to him. Not even there did his cour age forsake him, for when the officer strede oward him, bandage in hand, with the ir tention of blindfolding him, Captari Cota at once motioned him away, declaring that he was not afraid. Not even as the office charge of the firing party took his place and with his sword motio ed the orders to the men was there the least trace of fear on the face of the condemned man. At the first discharge he dropped dead.

Position Taken Will Place Spain on the Offensive If Any Hostile Action Grows Out of the Matter.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 .- (Special.)-Perons who enjoy the confidence of President McKinley say guardedly that many of the published statements as to Spa'm are true. Two or three newspapers have recently outlined the contents of the president's note to the queen regent of Spain which is to be delivered shortly by Minister Woodford. The note is couched in the most diplomatic way and has had the careful consideration not only of the president, but of those who stand high in the world of diplomacy so far as America is concerned. A gottleman who has the confidence of the president said: "I believe that there will be some trouble grow out of the note to the Spanish powers. It will, however, be of a character placing Spain entirely upon the offensive, I can have so other thought but that America will show itself capable of writing letters of so clever a character that we will enjoy the symmathy of all powers when the true status of the situation comes to be known. General Woodford's instructions are of such a character and so firm is the president fixed by deal of very readable correspondence over the Cuban situation.

LIETGERT INDUIGES IN A FIGHT. ONE DEATH, SIX NEW CASES

OMAHA, MONDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 20, 1897.

Comes Out of the Encounter with a CHICAGO, Sept. 19.-It came to light derer, indulged in a fight last Wednesday afternoon with William Yeeng, a prisoner confined in the same tler on the charge of robbery. The ex-sausage manufacturer's lameness is not due to rheumatism, as was given out by himself and his guards, but the result of Young's hurling him backward against the pavement of the jail corridor to save himself from Luetgert's big fists. The affair started in a friendly scuffle, but when Luetgert saw his opponent was getting the better of him he lost his temper and began "rushing" his man. Young, however, who is quick and muscular, caught his opponent around the waist and literally hurled him backwards about twenty feet against the tile pavement and a steel door. Luetgert hid to be helped to his feet and almost carried to his cell. The jail physician almost carried to his cell. The jail physician says the fall wrenched one of the ligaments of the thigh and it may be weeks before he fully recovers.

When the trial is resumed Tuesday the pr secution is expected to consume only the morning session in winding up its case. The defense will divide its rebuttal evidence into two parts: First, they will attempt to show that Mrs. Luctgert was seen and talked with after the night she is said to have been mur-dered. If the Konosha alabi is touched upon it will be but lightly and this will probably be held in resedve. The principal part of the evidence will be an attempt to explain the remarkable chain of circumstances, which, the state claims, shows Mrs. Luetgert was murdered by her husband. .

Mrs. Louisa Johnson, who lives near the Lucigert home, will be placed on the stand by the state, whether the motive witnesses are admitted or not. Mrs. Johnson would have testified before, but she has been seriously ill. She will tell of seeing Luetger chase his wife at the point of a revolver.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19.-The local fever situation has undergone little change since yesterday. At six o'clock tonight the record book in the Board of Health office showed a total of six new cases and one death. Acting Mayor Brittain and President Ollphant today replied to the suggestion strongly deprecating it. They wrote that it would be inadvisable and inexpedient to de-termine upon a fixed day for cleaning pur-poses, as such a movement would cause an accumulation of filth and trash which could not be moved at once, and by the stirring up of miasma would further endanger the health of the city instead of improving it. It was suggested, therefore, that each individual inhabitant of the city proceed without delay to the cleaning of his own premises, to the disinfection of his water closets, alleys, yard, te., and the destruction of all decaying mat-

The enormous death rate from enteritis and dysentery, the in-spector says, is a result of the lack of nu-tritious food, and the deaths from thes disenses have not reached high water mark. Unless the laws are so amended as to admit certain important food products, nobody but the favored few will be able to obtain nu-tritious food. Even at the present time all fresh meats command prices above the reach of the lower classes while breadstuffs are proportionately high.

day was bright, clear and pretty, but the SUNDAY SEES EVERYBODY ON THE MOVE

Double Forces Work Night and Day to Get the Buildings Rendy for the Coming of Today's Crowds.

Promptly at 8 o'clock this morning the big gates at the fair grounds will swing ontward and the thirty-first annual exposition of the products and resources of Nebraska will be formally opened. All that has been promised in regard to the superlority of the exhibits has been more than fulfilled, and the thousands of people that will throng the grounds during the week will be permitted to see what Nebriska can offer for its natural advantages. It furnishes a most effective object lesson in one of the most magnificent expositions of stock and agricultural products ever brought together in any state in the union. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon just 100 more carloads of exhibits had been brought into the grounds than were ever brought to a state fair in Nebraska and a large number of additional carloads were scheduled to arrive during the evening and early this morning. The bustle of preparation was intensified yesterday and hundreds of workmen were busily engaged in rushing through the task of plicing the vast amount of material that was offered for exhibition. An immense

The greatest delay is noticeable in the buildings which are occupied chiefly by local exhibitors. In spite of the constant reminders of the management a vast number of Omaha people insisted on waiting until the last minute to make their entries. More Omaha entries were received during yesterday than during the entire previous week and as a result a large number of them were turned down. The clerks were compelled to

to be ready for the Judges today.

Aside from this, however, there has been nothing to interfere with the complete suc cess of the fair. Nearly all the live stock before midnight last night, and the pens are fairly swamped with the tremendous exhibit of cattle and hogs. In each of these classes the show is immensely superior to that of any previous year both in the number of exhibits and the quality of the stock, and the breeders on the ground who have been making the circuit of State fairs for years, say that it is in every respect the finest exhibit of stock ever seen in any western state. The horses are not up to the standard attained before the bicycle and trolley car made horse breeding a losing game, but the exhibit is equal to the best that has been shown during the last few

The Poultry building is too small to equal the demands for space and coops of birds are stacked up in every vacant space. Even the aisles are piled high with exhibits and there is barely enough space left to pass between the rows. The varieties shown are exceptionally complete and the quality of the fowls is extraordinary.

SUNDAY VISITORS SEE LITTLE. The trains on the stub line were heavily loided with visitors all day yesterday and some of them protested most vigorously when they found it was necessary to pay the usual admission at the gate. Their dissat-isfaction was still more vigorously expressed isfaction was still more vigorously expressed when they attempted to go into several buildings and were met by the sign of "No admittance," which was strict yenfored. The admittance was charged by the management mainly for the purpose of preventing the buildings from being overrun with visitors who might interfere with the workmen, but the people who paid to see the show that was kent behind closed doors were unable to see kent behind closed doors were unable to see kept behind closed doors were unable to see the justice of this arrang ment.

Matters took a lively turn in the Adminis-ration building yeste day. All day long ines of busy exhibitors througed the offices of President Doolittle and Secretary Fornas The machinery for handling the multitudin-ous business of the big slow has been brought to a condition far more perfect than in any previous year and a vast quantity of was irangacted by the officials with very

"The fair this year" said Sceretary Furnar. Will beat anything of its kind ever known in the state. The exhibitors were a triffe slow in getting their displays into posi-tion along at first, but they are making amends for this by placing at work double forces of men. The state certal displays in the Agricultural building premise to eclipse it previous efforts, and as to space, I don't think there is an available inch which has not been allotted.

PROTECTION FOR EXHIBITORS. "One of the new features of this year which is worthy of moution is the fact of State Veterinarian A. T. Poters of Lincoln being with us. He will be in attendance at the grounds during the entire period covered by the fair. Every animal piaced on exhibition will pass under his eyes. Heretofore many owners of fine cattle and swine have refrained from taking the best products of their farms to the fair on account of the their farms to the fair on account of the danger of disease by contagion. This is par-ticularly true of hogs. Under the present atrangement any animals which appear even a triffe suspicious as to health will be barred from the grounds. You may say that the fair will be ready for all sigitacers when gates open Monday morning."

As illustrative of the wanderful resources of Nebraska there is an exhibition in the secretary's office a well matured coffee plant. The pods in which the green berries nesticate well developed and the plant to an untutored eye appears up to all requirements required in the growth of the product. The plant was raised in this city by M. R. Schanke of North Seventeerth atrest, it will be later placed in the Horticultural building. This coffee exhibit, together with the cotton exhibit, both home grown will prove quite a novelty to those interested in the ever expanding flora of the state.

HAS A SOUVENIR BADGE. Secretary Furnas has had manufactured 500 souvenir badges, which will be distributed to a few of the main exhibitors : d to the various heads of departments of the fair. It is in the form of a badge and is quite handsome in design. The pin section
